2026 Wine of Provenance Results

Classic wine styles really held true for the top entries of the class. The whites continue to show consistency and an ability to age with grace while still displaying place and vintage. The reds seemed to perform best when they were chosen from similar vintages and there was a more impactful influence of winemaking evolution across the span of vintages – it worked in the top sets, but did cloud the thread between some sets.

Class 01

Dry Riesling, Vintage 2026

Judges: Julian Langworthy, Peter Kelly, Jessey McGowen, Merrick Watts, Keeda Zilm, Paul Carpenter, Darcy Lapidge, Dion Girolamo, Lauren Langfied, Tim Lynas

Comments: In what could have been a hard year for Riesling, there were beacons that showed a good level of maturity along with classic varietal character. The non-awarded wines often had ripeness issues, mixed class , vintage conditions showed a touch with some underripe and some dilute wines. The best offered nice clarity and drive with good purity.

Class 10

Dry Shiraz, Vintage 2025

Judges: Sarah Crowe, Sophie Otton, Brock Harrison, Belinda van Eyssen, Peggy Shiau

Comments: Overall a very strong class and high medal strike rate, wines showing warmer season fruit concentration, sometimes oak was overplayed, careful extraction was important as was freshness.

Judges: Peter Kelly, Julian Langworthy, Sarah Crowe, Jessey McGowen, Merrick Watts, Sophie Otton, Brock Harrison, Keeda Zilm, Paul Carpenter, Lauren Langfied, Tim Lynas, Darcy Lapidge, Dion Girolamo, Belinda van Eyssen, Peggy Shiau

Comments: Many great wines from an excellent vintage. Those that struck a balance of fruit power with prudent oak and tannin management came to the fore. Shiraz was the winner as were the judges , top wines showed lovely resolve and length.
Quite a lot of heavy oak across many wines made it difficult to see the fruit, best wines had oak balance.

some great wines.
Some lovely wines expressive of the vintage led the way. Too many tired and underripe examples.

Comments: A great class with well thought out, well made, well judged wines. The best showed bright fruit, texture and length. Non awarded wines often were advanced for their age.
Top wines are seamless and a joy to behold , fine boned but with great resolve.
Some tired wines from 2024 which was a slight concern
The 2024 wines in our section were largely overshadowed by the 2025 vintage, Lovely density with freshness, balanced wines with fruit ripeness and tannin show excellent choices were made.

Judges: Peter Kelly, Julian Langworthy, Sarah Crowe, Jessey McGowen, Merrick Watts, Sophie Otton, Brock Harrison, Keeda Zilm, Paul Carpenter, Lauren Langfied, Tim Lynas, Darcy Lapidge, Dion Girolamo, Belinda van Eyssen, Peggy Shiau

Comments: A real expression of vineyard and winemaker in this class, The right varietal make up, with judicious winemaking input gave delicious and well crafted wines at the top end. A lovely class with many styles, great conversation around the blending and structure elements. Mixed class, some slightly jangly acid in parts and some tiring older wines. Top wine showed great energy and grapitic minerality.
